Introduction

Caboolture West is Moreton Bay Regional Council's ('Council') single largest growth front and is expected to accommodate approximately 70,000 residents over the next 40 years.

The name Caboolture West is an administrative name that refers to a local plan area within Council's Planning Scheme. It is not a gazetted place name. With this new development and community now emerging, it is timely to explore and establish new names for the whole area and suburbs within it; names that reflect and resonate with both the existing and future communities.

The Caboolture West Name Your Place Survey is part of a larger project that aims to establish place identity and names that support the development of liveable and desirable communities within Caboolture West and respect the social, cultural and environmental values of the existing and the potential future communities.

Names matter, identity matters, community voices matter. This is not only about establishing an identity for the new residents that will come but to help existing communities develop a sense of connection with these new areas and alter the trajectory of their own communities. This project provided a genuine opportunity to bring community voices into the process of determining the new names for the area and suburbs within it.

Methodology

The survey design

Voconiq collaborated closely with Council to develop the Name Your Place Survey tool. The survey was deliberately designed to be short and use plain language. The main focus of the survey was to collect name suggestions from the community with some additional questions about community values and demographics. The survey instrument can be found in Appendix 1.

First, the survey introduced participants to the anticipated development of Caboolture West and described the purpose of the survey. A map of the region supported the introduction (Appendix 1). Before continuing to the actual questions, participants needed to provide informed consent. Anyone under the age of 18 needed their parent/guardian to consent to participate. There was also an additional layer of protection for participants under the age of 15 by removing questions asking for name and contact details and irrelevant questions, such as asking for employment status.

Next, participants were asked to complete a series of questions relating to four key topic areas (Table 1).

Table 1. A summary of the survey topics, purpose and further detail and/or example items.

Topic	Purpose	Examples
Community values	To find out what community members think is most important for the development of the Caboolture West area and in general when choosing a place to live, work and play to guide development and branding.	"Embracing natural features, such as the Caboolture River (via walkways, public access points, green space, etc.)" "Family-friendly activities and facilities (e.g. parks and playgrounds)"
Themes for place names	To find out what themes community members think are most important when naming a place.	"Local environment (such as native flora, fauna, natural features, e.g. rivers, climate)" "Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander heritage and culture"
Name suggestions for the whole area (new city) and the potential future suburbs within it	To gain name suggestions and justifications for the suggestions that could be used for evaluation and verification	"Please provide your name suggestion for the new city." "Please tell us why you have suggested this name"
Demographics	To ensure overall participation represents a diverse and robust sample representing the residents of the Moreton Bay Regional Council area.	"Which of the following best describes your current employment status?" "Please record the suburb within the Moreton Bay Region that you have the strongest connection"

Where participants were invited to provide name suggestions, different maps were used to visualise the areas being named: the whole area (new city) and potential future suburbs within it (see Figure 1 for an example and Appendix 1 for all maps). To guide respondents to make acceptable name suggestions, Council developed the Place Naming Criteria for the project. This criteria aligned with the State Government's Place Naming Principles. A link to criteria document was provided in this section (Appendix 2). This document explained that names should be meaningful, verifiable, unique, recognisable and enduring, whereas, they should not be offensive to any reasonable person, be commercial or otherwise protected. To make it easier for participants, a summary of the most critical points was included in the survey itself.

Participants were able to nominate which area/s they were naming and submit multiple names for different areas, asking them to consider names that are unique, not commercial or trademarked, and inoffensive. They could suggest names for one or as many of the following as they wanted:

- whole Caboolture West local plan area (the new city) and potential future suburb E, which is anticipated to become the city centre and will adopt the same name given to the whole area
- specific potential future suburbs A, B, C, D, F or G
- any potential future suburb (where the name was not tied to a specific location but remained relevant to the general Caboolture West local plan area).

Finally, participants could opt-in to answer a few more questions about what characteristics they value most when they chose a place to live, or otherwise move on to the final demographic section of the survey.

Engaging with community

The Name Your Place Survey was open for community input between 10 August and 5 September 2021. Being inclusive was very important for the survey to gain a sample that represents the overall population of the region. The survey was made available online and in hard copy to minimise barriers to participation. Council actively promoted it via multiple channels to maximise awareness and encourage the participation of everyone who lives, works and plays in the region or has a strong connection to the Caboolture West area.

Some of the promotional tools and channels used by Council included:

- Online engagement hub: Council created a 'Caboolture West Place Naming' page on their Your Say Moreton Bay platform where information about the project and a link to the survey was made available (Appendix 5).
- Social media: Multiple posts and advertisements on Council's main Facebook and Moreton Says Facebook (Appendix 3).

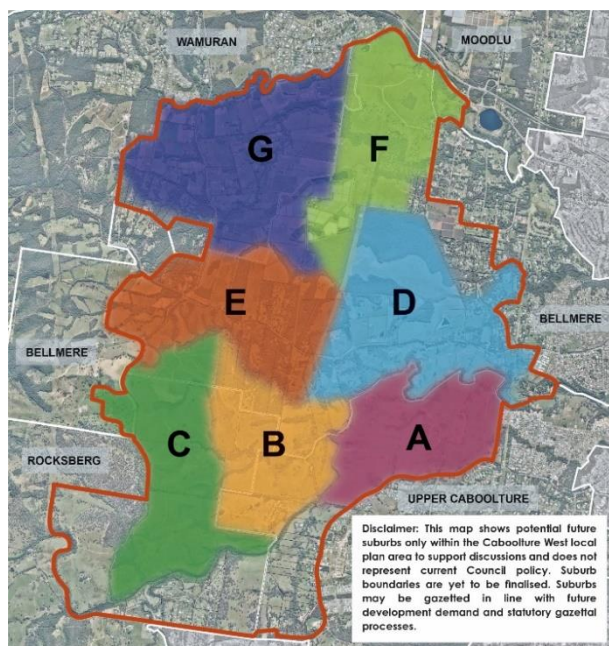

Figure 1. An example of the maps that were used in the survey. (Legend:  Caboolture West local plan area; A - G potential future suburb.)

- Printed communication: The survey was delivered to 5,500 properties within the Caboolture West local plan area (Appendix 4). Posters, flyers, hard copy surveys and digital displays were in Council's Customer Service Centres and libraries.
- Face to face: The survey was promoted in community focus groups run to help define community identity and inform suburb boundary definitions in and around Caboolture West. Council doorknocked 33 businesses in Caboolture West and neighbouring suburbs talking to business operators and distributing flyers and posters.
- Newsletters and emails: Information about the project was included in PD News Council's long running newsletter that services the development industry and interested community members that have subscribed, as well as Council's internal newsletter Connect MBRC. Emails were sent to those that registered their interest via the project's Your Say Moreton Bay page.
- Media releases and media interviews: Council made media releases and spokespeople participated in media interviews promoting the Caboolture West Place Naming Project.
- Councillor support: Hard copy surveys, posters and social media shareables were provided to local Councillors for their use in promoting the opportunity to be part of the project.
- Third party support: Information, surveys, social media shareables, a classroom activity kit and advertisements suitable for school newsletters were distributed to 18 local educational facilities that service the Caboolture West area.

Data analysis and list of name suggestions

Once the survey closed, a data cleaning process removed instances where the same person suggested the same name multiple times but allowed people to submit multiple different names at different points in time (i.e. if multiple people from the same household participated).

Next, a frequency distribution analysis was done for all multiple-choice, Likert-scale and ranking type questions to understand how often a specific answer was selected by the participants. Then, participants' name suggestions and the justifications for the suggested names were extracted into worksheets for an initial screening of all suggested names against the Place Naming Criteria (Appendix 2).

The names were classified into three categories:

- Red: Suggested name does not comply with the Place Naming Criteria, e.g. the name is offensive or honours a person that is still alive.
- Yellow: Suggested name seems to meet most of the criteria.
- Green: Suggested name seems to meet all the criteria and be meaningful for the area based on participant's justification.

The classification of names into the three categories is only a pre-screening that does not replace a thorough research and verification process of selected names before presenting them to the Place Naming Committee for shortlisting.

Who participated in the survey?

The Caboolture West Name Your Place Survey provided an opportunity to everyone who lives, works or plays in the region to submit their name suggestions. Participants were diverse and from all walks of life and the name suggestions reflect the diversity of the community itself.

Importance of thematic aspects

When participants were asked to rank in order of importance six themes that can inspire place names it was revealed the local environment is of primary importance – approximately 40% of participants ranked it as most important to them (Figure 2). This was followed by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander heritage and culture, and local history. Aspirations for the future of the area was the least important.

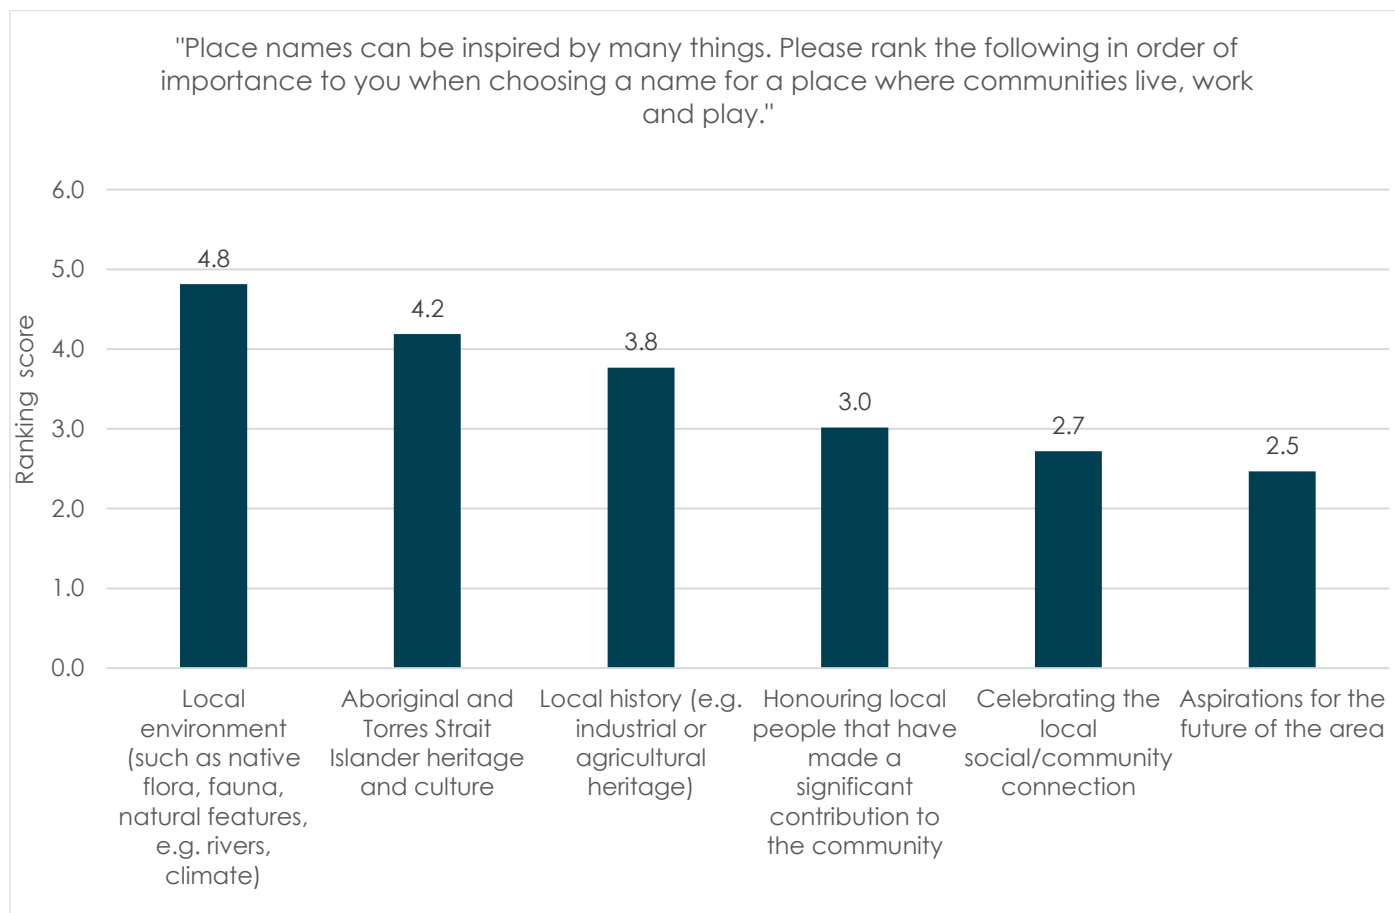

Figure 2. Importance of thematic aspect when naming a place where communities live, work and play (higher scores represents higher importance) (N= 324).

Value statements and features for the future development of Caboolture West

When participants were asked to choose up to three features that would be most important for them in the future development of Caboolture West aside from housing diversity, traffic management and environmental protection that Moreton Bay Regional Council already understands as important issues, the following was revealed:

“A sustainable centre surrounded by Glass House Mountain vistas, natural beauty and farmlands” is most important, closely followed by “Embracing natural features, such as the Caboolture River” (Figure 3). Both were selected by approximately 60% of all participants, whereas all other features were only selected by 31% or fewer participants.

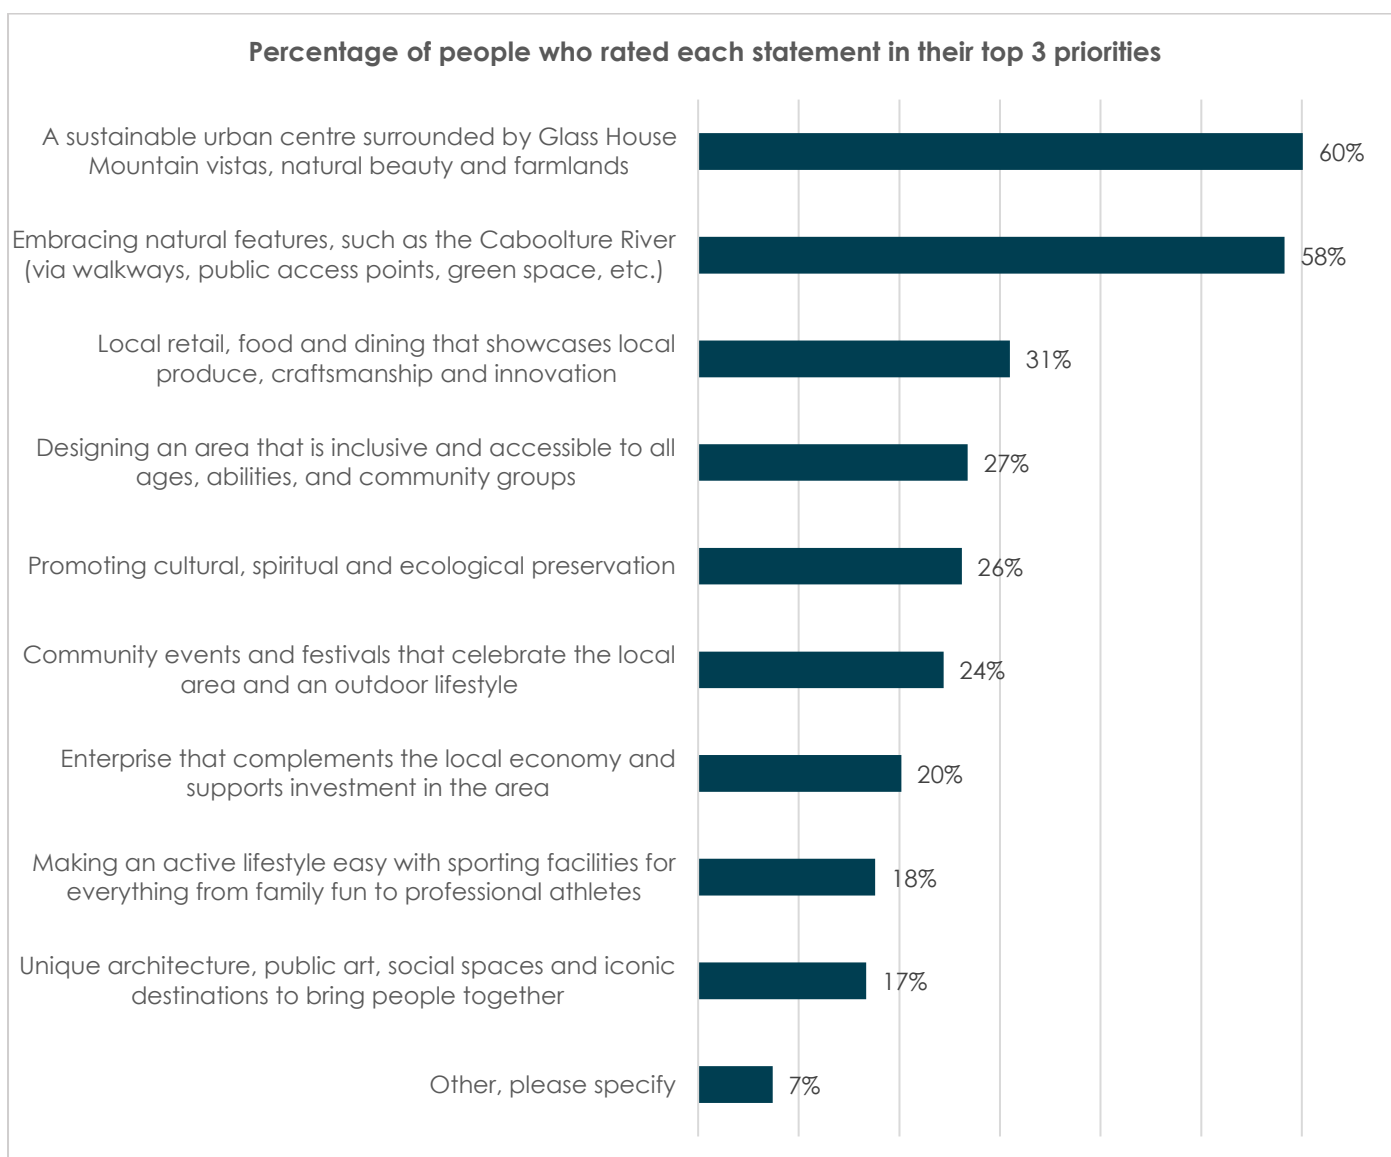

Figure 3. Importance of value statements for the future development of Caboolture West in percentage of how many participants selected it (the higher the percentage, the more important the value statement) (N= 311).

Name suggestions

For the whole Caboolture West local plan area and potential future suburb E (Figure 4), 229 name suggestions were submitted. In the initial screening, we identified 36 suggested names that did not meet the Place Naming Criteria.

Participants suggested 337 names for the other potential future suburbs (Figure 5, excludes future potential suburb E). In the initial screening, we found 52 did not meet the Place Naming Criteria.

Council will undertake more thorough assessment of the names against the Place Naming Criteria before the suggested names are taken to the Place Naming Committee.

Community values when choosing a place to live

When participants were asked to rate how important a range of characteristics were when choosing a place to live, the following was revealed: it is most important to participants how safe they feel in the region, closely followed by the natural beauty of the region (Figure 6). There was also strong agreement sustainable living with efficient housing, energy and resources as well as ease of affording the lifestyle people want are important values. Participants rated how close they are to cultural experiences (e.g., libraries, museums, and performing arts) as least important.

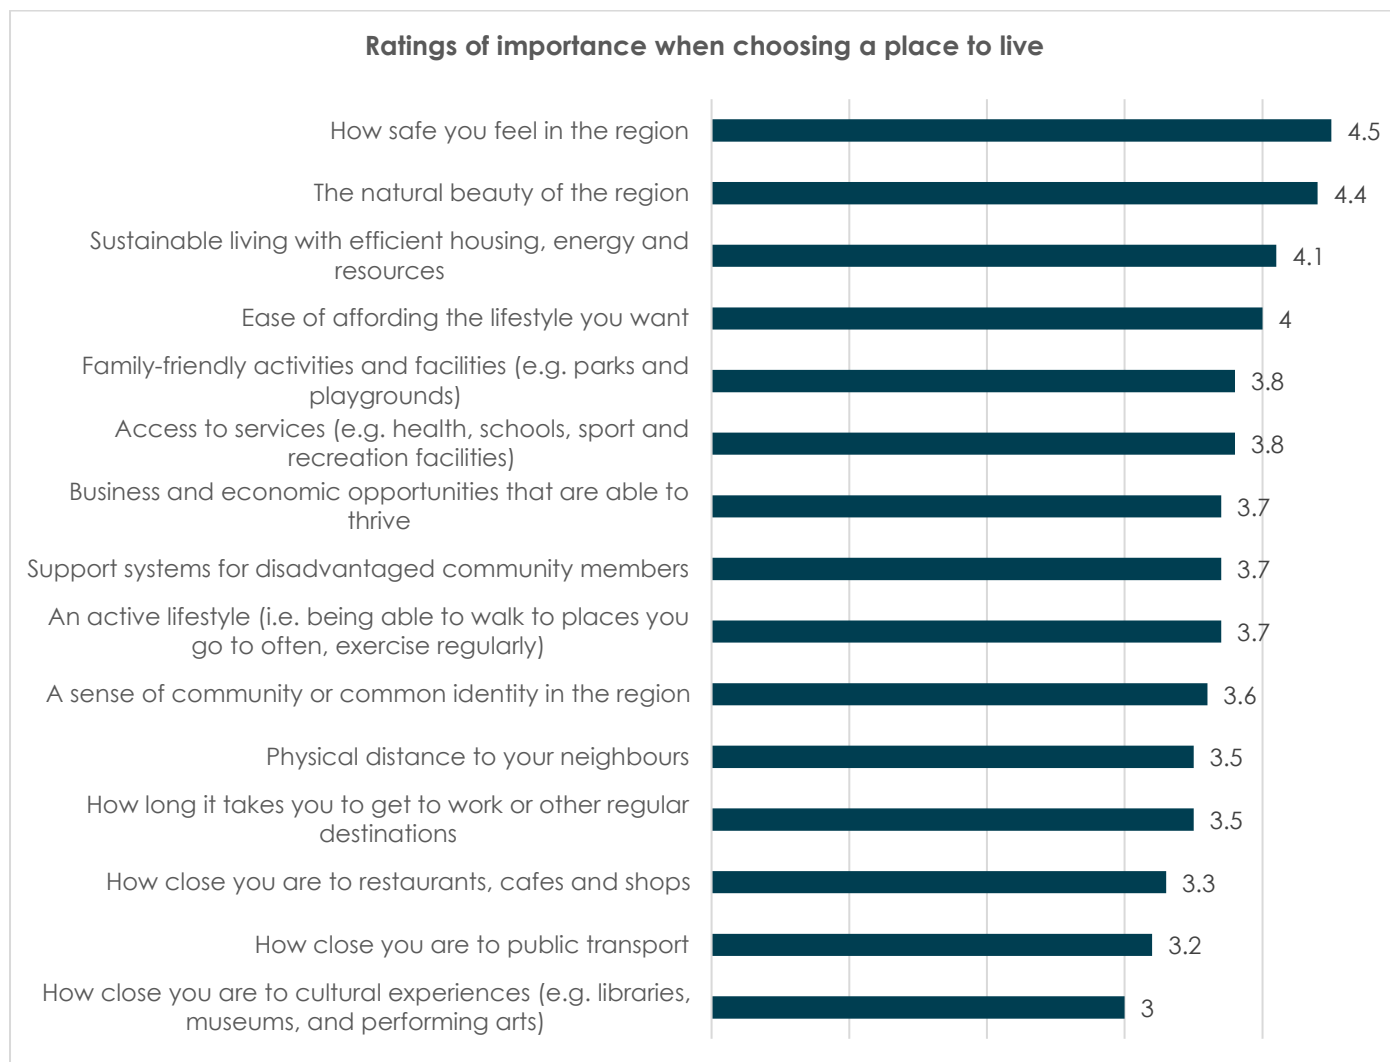

Figure 6. Ratings of importance when choosing a place to live (higher scores represent higher importance) (N= 121).

Summary

The planned development in Caboolture West aims to bring a host of business, employment, education and lifestyle opportunities, as well as a diverse housing options, and community and recreation experiences. The area has the potential to be the region's heartland of tomorrow. Council aims to rename the whole area (the new city) and the potential future suburbs within it to establish names that resonate with both the existing and future communities. The survey was implemented to provide community members with a "Name your Place" opportunity to propose name suggestions and provide insights about their values when choosing a place to live.

The survey instrument aimed to elicit appropriate and contextually relevant name suggestions with reference to the Place Naming Criteria. The survey was promoted by Council via multiple channels in online and paper versions to maximise participation of the target audience, community members of the Moreton Bay Region. 410 responses were collected in 30 days from a diverse demographic background. After data cleaning, a frequency analysis was conducted, and name suggestions and any accompanying justification extracted for review. All names were assessed against the Place Naming Criteria and classified into three different groups reflecting their potential to be used as a area and suburb names.

In total, 566 name suggestions were submitted – 229 for the whole area and 337 for the suburbs. After a first assessment, it seems that 476 of these names meet all or most of the Place Naming Criteria and 88 names are clearly not appropriate. The survey also provided insights about what themes community members rate as most important when naming a place. Participants indicated most often that names should be inspired by the local environment, followed by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander heritage and culture, and local history. Aspirations for the future of the area was the least important.

The survey also took advantage of the opportunity to test different value statements with the community regarding the future development of the region and, more generally, about choosing a place to live. For the future development of Caboolture West, participants most strongly favoured an area that has "A sustainable centre surrounded by Glass House Mountain vistas, natural beauty and farmlands", closely followed by "Embracing natural features, such as the Caboolture River". When choosing a place to live, the results revealed it is most important to participants how safe they feel in the region, closely followed by the natural beauty of the region, and sustainable living with efficient housing, energy and resources.

Introduction

Name Your Place

Moreton Bay Regional Council – Caboolture West Place Naming Project

Council is giving our community the chance to help rename Caboolture West in preparation for the development of an exciting new city in the area. Over the next 40 years, the area is expected to become home to approximately 70,000 residents making it comparable to the current size of the city of Mackay.

This development will bring a host of business, employment, education and lifestyle opportunities, as well as a diverse range of housing options, and community and recreation experiences. You can be a part of naming this place that has potential to become Moreton Bay's heartland of tomorrow. Names matter, identity matters, your voice matters.

Your role

Council is inviting you to complete this survey to help decision-makers better understand your aspirations for our newest city. Council is also asking you to suggest names for the new city and the seven (7) potential future suburbs within it. Place names are more than just addresses or tools to help us navigate to locations; they can tell us a story about the place and its people. The names that are chosen for the new development will help support the establishment of liveable and desirable communities.

Caboolture West Place Naming

Place names should be:

Meaningful	Must be relevant to the local, historical (either Indigenous or non-Indigenous), cultural, geographical, environmental (flora, fauna) and/or physical (landscape) attributes of the place. Naming a place in honour of a person can only occur after the person has passed away and if that person does not have a criminal history. The person commemorated should have contributed significantly to the area (ownership of land in itself is not sufficient).
Verifiable	Claims of historical or cultural significance can be substantiated. If the name is of Indigenous origin it should be of the local language and endorsed by the Traditional Custodians.
Unique	Must not duplicate or be similar in spelling or sound to other locality names in Australia (e.g. 'Wytmont', 'Whitmont'). Check for possible name duplication using the Gazetteer of Australia .
Recognisable	Must be simple, concise and easy to read, pronounce and spell (using standard alphabet and Australian English spelling conventions as appropriate). Names should be no longer than 50 characters and preferably be one word. Avoid hyphenation, abbreviations, initials, acronyms, and prefixes or suffixes, such as 'Upper', 'New', 'East', 'West'. If the place name references a personal name, it should adopt the spelling of that name (e.g. 'MacRaes Flat' not 'McRaes Flat', where named after Mrs MacRae).
Enduring	It is likely to stand the test of time.

Place names must not be:

Offensive to any reasonable person	Must not discriminate, be demeaning or be likely to give offence in line with contemporary community standards and values.
Commercial	Must not advertise or promote commercial enterprises or be able to be interpreted as doing such. Must not breach trademark laws.
Protected	Must not be words or acronyms protected by State or Commonwealth legislation, without appropriate Ministerial approval.

The above criteria are consistent with the State Government's Place Naming Principles. These principles include additional guidelines for name structure, punctuation and use of alternative names that will also be adhered to by Council.

WHAT WILL OUR NEW SUBURBS BE NAMED?

OPPORTUNITY TO NAME MORETON BAY REGION'S NEWEST CITY!

It's time to put Caboolture West on the map!... Just with a better place name than that.

Caboolture West Place Naming Project

Council is giving our community the chance to help rename Caboolture West in preparation for the development of an exciting new city in the area.

Over the next 40 years, the area is expected to become home to approximately 70,000 residents making it comparable to the current size of the city of Mackay.

The new city will bring with it a host of business, employment, education and lifestyle opportunities, as well as a diverse range of housing options, and community and recreation experiences.

You can be a part of the naming of this area that has potential to become Moreton Bay Region's heartland of tomorrow.

Ways to get involved

We are encouraging community participation through:

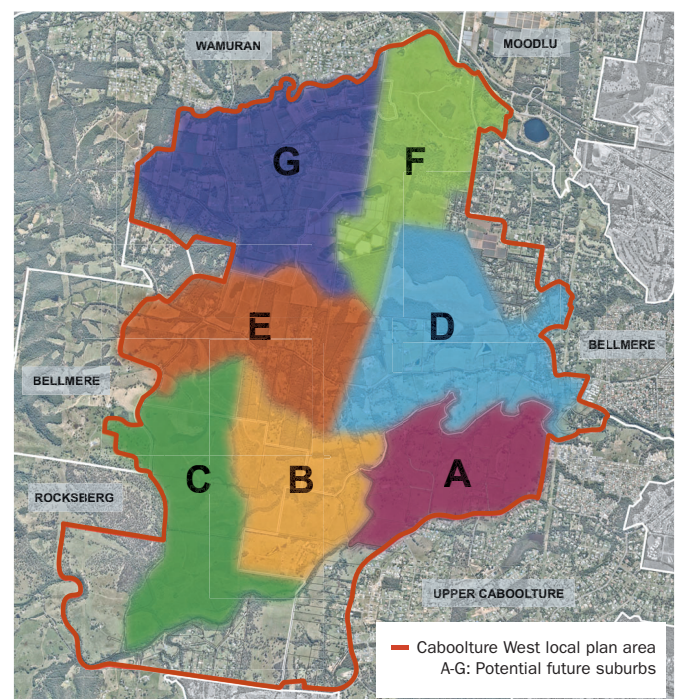

- Name Your Place survey to put forward your suggestions for place names—Survey now open
- Place Naming Committee that will compile a recommended short-list of suggested place names from the survey—Nominations now open.
- Focus groups that will help Council to redefine the boundaries and protect the identities of existing suburbs affected by the coming development—Expression of interests now closed.

See over the page for more details on how you can participate.

Areas being named

Council is seeking names for:

- Caboolture West area as a whole (the new city) and potential future Suburb E that is anticipated to become the city centre. These will share the same name just like the Brisbane CBD and Brisbane City.
- Remaining six potential future suburbs within the Caboolture West area. Three of these suburbs A, B and C may be progressed this year to the State Government for formalisation through the Minister for Resources in line with Place Naming Act 1994.

Disclaimer: This map shows possible future suburbs only within the Caboolture West local plan area to support discussion and does not represent current Council policy. Suburb boundaries have not yet been finalised. Suburbs may be formalised in line with future development demand.

Caboolture West Place Naming Project

Consultation has concluded

Renaming Caboolture West and naming a new city!

The Moreton Bay Region is changing and Council has been giving our community the chance to help rename Caboolture West in preparation for the development of an exciting new city in the area.

Over the next 40 years, the area is expected to become Moreton Bay Region's biggest emerging community containing a mixed-use city centre and a range of residential neighbourhoods.

In time, the new city will be home to approximately 70,000 residents making it comparable to the current size of the city of Mackay.

The new city will bring with it a host of business, employment, education and lifestyle opportunities, as well as a diverse range of housing options, and community and recreation experiences.

We think it is important the community be part of the naming of this area that has potential to become Moreton Bay Region's heartland of tomorrow.

How the community has been involved

Council has encouraged community participation through:

1. Name Your Place survey to put forward suggestions for place names (survey closed 5 September 2021)
2. Place Naming Committee that will compile a recommended short-list of place names from the survey (applications closed 22 August 2021)
3. Focus groups that will help Council to redefine boundaries and protect the identities of existing suburbs affected by the coming development (applications closed 1 August 2021).

If you just want to be kept informed about the project, please complete the form at the bottom of this page.

Name Your Place survey

The Name Your Place survey is now closed.

Council invited community members to complete the Name Your Place survey between 10 August and 5 September 2021 to:

- help decision-makers better understand community aspirations for our newest city
- suggest names for the new city and the seven \(7\) potential future suburbs within it.

Place names are more than just addresses or tools to help us navigate to locations; they can tell us a story about the place and its people. The names chosen for the new development will help support the establishment of liveable and desirable communities. We want great names that represent a strong community identity; names that people now and, in the future, can connect with and be proud to call home.

Place names can be inspired by many things. Most importantly, they should authentically connect to the place and could reflect:

- local environment such as native flora, fauna, natural features (e.g. rivers) or climate
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander heritage and culture
- local history, e.g. industrial or agricultural heritage
- honouring local people that have made a significant contribution to the community
- celebration of local social/ community connection
- aspirations for the future.

Selection of the place names will be guided by our Place Naming Criteria and not by popular vote.

Names suggested via the survey, that meet the requirements of our Place Naming Criteria, will be presented to the Place Naming Committee.

Place Naming Committee

Applications for the Place Naming Committee closed on 22 August 2021.

Thank you to everyone who made an application; your willingness to be involved in the naming of Caboolture West and the potential future suburbs within it is appreciated.

Successful applicants will be contacted via email.

The Committee will meet in October 2021 to assess, using our Place Naming Criteria, the names suggested through the Name Your Place survey and create a shortlist that will be considered by Council.
